

Emotional Piggy Bank

Fill up a child's "piggy bank" every day!

Think of all the ways you make connections with children as deposits into their "emotional piggy bank." Playing, giving time and attention, and showing warmth and affection are just a few ways we can make deposits. Fill in the coins on the worksheet with ideas of how you will build responsive relationships with children. Being purposeful and consistent in the way we create nurturing and responsive relationships with children is the foundation for social-emotional learning.
